

From: Newsday Update <newsletters@e.newsday.com>

To: <[REDACTED]>

Subject: LI fatal opioid overdoses drop 24 percent, officials say

Date: Wed, 10 Jul 2019 09:02:37 +0000

Morning Update

SUBSCRIBE TO NEWSDAY

GET STARTED

LI fatal opioid overdoses drop 24 percent, officials say

The deaths fell a combined total of nearly 24 percent last year in the two counties, officials said.

Read
Today's Paper

Play Stan Newman's
Crossword

Clerk files suit to block NY immigrant license law

The governor signed the bill despite concern about whether federal immigration officials could access drivers' information.

Advertisement

Suffolk lawmakers: Halt red light camera program

The criticism from Republicans comes as lawmakers plan a public hearing on whether to extend the contract.

Get breaking news as it happens. Sign up for our email news alerts.

SIGN UP

Video shows Ller distraught after fatal bar fight

Samuel White is on trial on first-degree manslaughter charges in the death of a Bay Shore man.

Watch: Limited-run beer being produced for Jones Beach charity run

Brewers from around Long Island are working to produce a limited-run charity beer for the 14th annual Marcum Workplace Challenge run-walk at Jones Beach State Park on July 30.

Editorial: Secretary of labor should step down

Alexander Acosta played a questionable role in the sordid story of Jeffrey Epstein.

2 plead guilty, fined $21G for overcrowded house

A raid found 32 seasonal workers lived in the property, with most sleeping in a basement alongside a generator and gasoline.

Advertisement

Pitchers dominate as AL beats NL in All-Star Game

American League wins its seventh consecutive Midsummer Classic. There were 23 strikeouts, with the NL fanning 16 times.

Jury: Ex-charity head stole from NY nonprofit

Wafa Abboud, the former head of the nonprofit Human First, was convicted of embezzling money, conspiracy and bank fraud.

31 garden chores and tips for July

"Summertime, and the livin's easy!"

Bellone uses rare veto over health center contract

Bellone said lawmakers have "no legal authority" and the resolution cannot be legally sustained.

Union rep: Class sizes will grow in Wyandanch

The district's bare-bones budget means average class sizes in elementary grades will rise to about 32 this fall.

CDC: Parents should be aware of polio-like illness

Acute flaccid myelitis, a rare but serious viral infection simply known as AFM, strikes in late summer through early fall.

Your guide to a Hamptons vacation

Where to stay and what to do on a day trip -- or a weekend getaway.

Report: SBU's economic effect worth $7.23B a year

Together, the university and its medical center are LI's largest "single-site employer," with nearly 16,000 employees.

Sign up for more newsletters

View this email in your browser

Copyright © 2019 Newsday. All rights reserved.

EFTA00032618

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.